Upon a dozen doubtful states from which the returns are slowly coming, depends whether Mr. Wilson has been reelected, or whether the next president of the United States will be Charles Evans Hughes, Republican nominee.

Chairmen of both national committees claimed handsome majorities in the electoral college for their candidates, but the actual figures today made good the claims of neither. They did, however, show a steady trend toward president Wilson all through the Hughes and the defeat of present. Wilson.

Hundreds of thousands waiting in the streets saw the signal lights flash the defeat of the president; New York newspapers, which have been prominent in their support of him, conceded the president's defeat even before some of the western states had been heard from. Hundreds of nersons in the assisted and woke this morning to find the result apparently changed while they slept. Hundreds who made their plans for what they expected to happen in Wall street today, found them set all awry.

Henry F. Ashuret seems to have been returned to the senate, defeating judge J. H. Kibbey. Carl Hayden is returned to the house of representatives over Henry L. Eade, Republican, by a large plurality.

No figures are obtainable on the balance of the state ticket, but it is assumed that the Democrate generally are in the lead.

The weather was fine and a maximum vote came out Locally, the election was remarkable for the number of straight Republican ballots cast and for the scratching of the Democrats.

about the election was the sudden wip-ing out of the Hughes majorities piled up in the east by the returns coming in from the west. When the Republican landslide in New York became known and was quickly followed by the heavy Republican victories in New England, there was a veritable stampede last night to announce the election of Mr. Hughes and the defeat of president Wilson.

for, the president was lending by about 700 votes.

Owing to the exceptional length of the ballot, few precincts had reported in either San Francisco or Los Angeles and on the result of the counting in these two cities hinged the outcome. Partial count of 592 city and county precincts at Los Angeles gave Hughes $1.272 and Wilson 48,134.

In Sacramento county, returns from 122 precincts for president, gave Hughes 3097 and Wilson 12,226.

Three hundred and fifteen precincts of 410 in Alameda county gave Hughes 18,212; Wilson 3,193.

In San Francisco the city registrar

In San Francisco the city registrar estivated that Wilson would have a majority of 20,000. Whether this would overcome the majority expected to be rolled up for Hughes in southern Callfornia was the point with which election experts concerned themselves.

The Los Angeles returns indicated that the Hughes majority would not be as heavy as the Republican leaders had estimated.

COLORADO.

Colorado was very early conceded to Wilson. The city and county of Denver filled up a tremendous Wilson maskin. A Democratic governor, Guntet, is elected.

Wilson's plurality will be 12,086 or more. The Democrats claim the state by 35,000. Women vote here and they seem to have swung to Wilson.

Control course indignted the defeat.

Partial returns indicated the defeat of the "beer amendment" by a vote of 2 to 1, showing a strengthening of the prohibition sentiment.

Returns from 657 precincts out of 1457 in Colorado gave: Hughes 47,692 and Wilson 77,445. Returns from 648 precincts for governor gave; Carlson, (Rep.) 53,616, and Gunther, (Dem.) 64,924.

CONNECTICET.

The slate goes for Hughes by about soon. Since the combined Taft and Rooseyelt vote in 1912 was 25,806 more man Wilson, the vote indicate a strong awing toward Wilson from the old Progressive and Republican ranks. The complete vote in Consectiont was: Rughes, 105,824; Wilson, 99,832. (Continued on Page 2, Column L)

Results at 5 p. m. indicated that Wilson would receive at least 27 electoral votes, while only 266 are necessary to elect. The Democrats are strongly claiming West Virginia, which would give Wilson 279. It is even possible that more of the states generally credited to Hughes as either safe or doubtful may swing into the Wilson column on the final count.

Giving Hughes all the states that can be called sure for him he has 222 votes, with 38 more classed as doubtful with the probabilities in favor of Hughes. If Hughes gets all his doubtful states he will have only 260.

This however assumes that Minnesota is no longer indicated as likely for Itughes, but on the contrary seems to be fairly safe for Wilson.

If Hughes saves Minnesota he may yet obtain 272 votes in all, or 6 more classed as doubtful with the probabilities in favor of more classed as followed in the probabilities in the contrary seems to be fairly safe for Wilson.

If Hughes cannot possibly win if he loses claim the state by 6000 while the Democrate claim it by 10,000. The count proceeding in Los Angeles county and other districts counted on to pile up a big Hughes plurality indicates that the Republicans have overcalculated their strength. Even if Hughes wins California he with root of the states classed as sure for Wilson or doubtful states he will have only 260.

This however assumes that Minnesota is no longer indicated

Since 6 oclock this morning 27 votes have been taken from the Hughes column and given to Wilson or thrown into the doubtful list, while during the day 39 votes have been given to Wilson by being taken out of the Hugher list or out of the doubtful column. No state before classed for Wilson has been taken away or placed in the doubtful column.

Chairman McCormick this afternoon claims West Virginia by 10,000, though the state is still generally conceded to Hughes. If Hughes loses West Virginia it appears that he cannot possibly win. The Democratic chairman claims more than 300 electoral votes for Wilson.

In claiming the reelection of Wilson, a statement was made at Democratic headquarters that the president could lose both California and Minnesota and still be elected.

A statement issued at Republican headquarters at 2:30 this afternoon claimed Minnesota, Oregon, California and New Hampshire and asserted that Hughes had obtained 277 electoral votes.

Following is the line-up as it appeared to stand at 5 oclock today in New York: SURE FOR HUGHES. SURE FOR WILSON.
